HISTORIC AMERICAN BUILDINGS SURVEY

Evan A. Lloyd House I

HABS No. PA-5710

Location: 926 Bucknell Avenue, Westmont, Johnstown, Cambria County, Pa.

Description: Large, spacious, two-and-a-half-story, three-bay single-family house with a front gable roof. It has a projecting second-story projecting bay with a pedimented gable. A small pediment over the entrance of the shed-roofed front porch has the appearance of being supported by two Doric columns. The pediment has fish-scale shingles as well as the other two gables. Doric columns support the porch and have a small balustrade. Wooden lattice-work underneath the porch. Sheathed in horizontal wood.

History: The house was built by a local contractor, Evan A. Lloyd, who lived in Westmont on Green Street. Lloyd purchased lots from the Thomas D. James estate in 1907, and built this house before 1913, when it appeared on the Sanborn map.

Project Information: This report was part of a larger project to document the city of Johnstown, Pennsylvania. The project was undertaken by the Historic American Buildings Survey/Historic American Engineering Record (HABS/HAER), Robert Kapsch, chief, at the request of America's Industrial Heritage Project (AIHP). An overview of history of the city (HABS No. PA-5669) and an overview of the neighborhood of Westmont (HABS No. PA-5671) provide context for these buildings as well as a comprehensive list of sources. See also additional HABS reports on buildings in the downtown and other neighborhoods.

This report was prepared by Cheryl Powell in August 1988 under the direction of Alison K. Hoagland, HABS historian, and Kim E. Wallace, the supervisory historian of the project. Powell's and other project historians' work was published as The Character of a Steel Mill City: Four Historic Neighborhoods of Johnstown, Pennsylvania (Washington, D.C.: HABS/HAER, National Park Service, 1989), edited by Kim E. Wallace. Illustrations in the publication include large format photographs taken by HAER photographer Jet Lowe and 35 mm photographs taken by the project historians.
